Junior Android Developer (Kotlin)

Full-time | on-site in Leonding

candybytes

There is nothing as sweet as combining the passion for great code with social entertainment and mobile learning. Since 2010 we have the pleasure to provide our expertise in app development in these captivating fields and have published over 50 apps. Our digital products sweeten the life of +250.000 users every day and never cease to make people feel as excited as being in a candy shop.

Are you eager to leave your footprint in the world of social entertainment? Then you might be the right addition to expand the team in Leonding and become one of the first team members in our brand new office.

Your Candy:

- Conceptualizing and implementing mobile apps
- Developing on the cutting edge of Android frameworks
- Closely collaborating with designers and other stakeholders
- Bringing a fresh perspective to the table
- Writing code that puts a smile on people's faces

What to bring along:

- A degree in Software Engineering or equivalent work experience
- First practical experience with developing Android apps, ideally in Kotlin
- Excitement and passion about Android development
- Eagerness to learn and grow
- Proactive self-starter with a positive mindset and a desire to learn

Show us your candy and send us your application documents by writing to:
career@candybytes.com

Next to candies, we certainly like to compensate you financially for your efforts ranging between EUR 2.800,- and EUR 3.400,- gross/month depending on your skills and previous work experience.